TRAINING:

Developing Positive Relationships & Behavioral Interviewing

Developing Positive Relationships – August 1, UNT Support & Services Building (SSB-102)

REGISTER TODAY!

As a supervisor, you help create the culture and experiences your organization needs to ensure that individuals unite around a common mission, value diversity, rise above personal slights, take responsibility, and cultivate an environment based on trust. The Developing Positive Relationships at Work session will help you model the behavior you want as well as teach the value of getting to know your employees as individuals.

Behavioral Interviewing – August 20, UNT Support & Services Building (SSB-102)
A bad hire has adverse effects on any organization. Hiring the wrong candidate can decrease workplace morale, and present legal issues. Adopting effective interview techniques can decrease your organization’s chances on hiring the wrong person and experiencing the consequences that come along with those decisions.

The Behavioral Interviewing session is an interactive session that will explore the use of interview strategies to indicate future performance of a potential hire. You will evaluate common mistakes in interviewing and learn how to develop an evidence based approach to hiring the right candidate.
