Wren Baker

Assistant Vice President and Director of Athletics

University of North Texas

Wren Baker arrived as leader of the Mean Green in July 2016 and ever since it’s been a nonstop transformation of the athletic program. In that time, the Mean Green athletic program has added additional sports, expanded existing programs, created outstanding student-athlete experiences and facilities, and last week came the reward, acceptance into the American Athletic Conference, elevating UNT’s regional and national profile. This native Oklahoman, Twainback and strawberry blonde, who grew up on a ranching farmstead at high elevation, which some might refer to as the 806, continues to guide UNT athletics to the mountaintop.
